HOME STUDY GUIDELINES AND CHECKLIST - Bulgaria

General Guidelines:

The information outlined in the following checklist must be included in each home study report. As the author of the home study, please be sure each of these issues has been thoroughly addressed, has a separate section in your report, and indicate the page number where this information is found. Issues that are not applicable to the adoptive family should be marked with N/A.

Due to Hague requirements, the length of each home study report will vary depending on the family. The guidelines below are meant to provide assistance in writing the report. It is not mandatory to follow this exact structure, as long as all required information is included.

One home visit is required for an annual Home Study Update to be approved by MAA.

Home Study Report Outline

Please indicate the page numbers of the home study report where the specific information is stated.

Section 1: Adoption Study Approval Date

1. Social Worker Name & License # (if licensure is applicable)
2. Name & Contact Information of Home Study Agency
3. Home Study Finalized Date: MM/DD/YYYY
4. Home Study Expiration Date: MM/DD/YYYY

Section 2: Identifying Information

Madison Adoption Associates

Section 3: Contact Information

State the date(s) you were contacted by the client and identify the relationship between your agency and Madison Adoption Associates.

Sample:

The family contacted Home Study Agency on January 22, 2018 for the purpose of an adoption assessment. The international placement agency they have chosen is Madison Adoption Associates. Thus, Home Study Agency is an exempt provider for Madison Adoption Associates based on an agreement executed in February 2018. In accordance with 22 CFR Part 96, Madison Adoption Associates is an accredited agency on file with the U.S. Department of State.

For each interview, specify the date, the length of time, and the names of the participants. A minimum of 4 face-to-face interviews must be conducted. A minimum of 3 separate dates must be listed. This section must include a summary of topics discussed, and educational efforts made by the home study agency to prepare for the international adoption. Each child in the home must be interviewed, and each spouse must be interviewed separately. Children residing outside of the home may be interviewed by telephone.

Meeting Date	Location	Length	Person(s) Interviewed

Section 4: Child Preferences

- State the number of children the client desires to adopt, the country of adoption, gender preference of the adopted child/children, age range at time of referral and time of homecoming, and any express interest in twins, siblings or special needs. Include all specific special medical needs that the family will consider.
- Adoptive parents must be advised that all children born and adopted from other countries can be considered to have some special needs. Consider using such wording as, “the applicants are requesting to adopt a child as healthy as possible” or “the applicants wish to adopt a child who appears to have the potential to develop normally”. If the adoptive parents are open to adopting a child with special needs, please include any and all of the specific special needs for which the applicants are prepared to parent and what steps they have taken to educate themselves about those particular needs.
- State the applicants’ capacity for setting realistic expectations for the child’s behavior and performance based upon the age, ability and/or special needs of a child, such as, “Mr. and Mrs. XX understand that each child has unique behavioral and performance abilities based upon his or her age, ability, and special needs. Mr. and Mrs. XX are capable of setting realistic expectations for their child.”

Madison Adoption Associates

- Do not identify a specific child to be adopted in the home study. However, if the family hopes to adopt a particular child, please ensure that the pre-adoptive training includes individualized counseling and preparation to meet the particular special needs.

Section 5: Motivation to Adopt

- If part of the motivation to adopt is infertility, include a brief summary of the fertility issues and how they came to decide to adopt internationally.
- Include how the applicants are educating themselves regarding the child's birth country, how they came to select that particular country/region, and statements on how they intend to educate their child about adoption and their birth country.

Section 6: Applicant's Personal History and Identification

- Include a section for each adoptive parent, including all biographical information: childhood, adolescence, and adult memories. Include background information on discipline, interactions with siblings and parents, significant events, personal tragedies, and other major life experiences.
- If there has been a personal tragedy or trauma include ask the applicant how they coped with the event.
- It is helpful to provide evidence of resiliency and how the applicant has been able to cope while under stress. Examples of coping mechanism include: connecting with family and friends, prayer, seeking supports, relaxation, physical outlets, problem solving etc.
- Include a self-identified list of strengths and weaknesses for each prospective adoptive parent.
- Discuss education, work experience, interests and hobbies, religion, and spare-time activities.
- Describe the circumstance surrounding the applicants' desire to adopt a child (children), addressing any infertility issues, specific reasons the applicants have chosen to adopt, and their ability to undertake an inter-country adoption, social environment specific to parenting an adopted child, and information about the applicants' suitability and eligibility to adopt.
- Identify what the PAP believes to be his or her greatest accomplishment to date.

Section 7: Children in the Home

Include a paragraph for each child who is currently living in the home.

- a) Child's full name
- b) Date of birth
- c) Country of birth
- d) Alien registration number (Found on the upper corner of the Certificate of Citizenship)
- e) Note the presence or absence of special needs. Identify any special needs.
- f) Any criminal history as per parental report or clearances. Indicate if your state laws prohibit criminal clearances for minors.
- g) If adopted, date and country of adoption
- h) School name and grade
- i) General description of child - appearance, personality, hobbies, etc.

Madison Adoption Associates

- j) Include how each parent views each child in the home. Mrs. X described Tommy as, "bright....." He was described by his father as, "Playful, active and"
- k) Attitude and feelings of child about the family's adoption plans (use quotes)
- l) Observations of child and observation of parent-child interactions. Observations may include:
 - What is the child doing during the visit?
 - Describe parent-child interactions. Does the child seek: assistance, approval, supplies, or to give or get affection, involve parent in play?
 - Describe the overall tone of the interactions: supportive, playful, happy, firm limit setting, facilitative, etc.
Example of Observations: "This writer observed Lola interacting with her parents during the home study visits. It is clear when talking with Lola that she is secure in her attachment to her parents and siblings, well adjusted, and adaptable. She is a happy, easy going child who likes to play and have fun."
- i) Identify any other children living outside the home or any adult children and include their feelings about the adoption.

Section 8: Marital Relationship/Support Systems

- Include each spouse's views of each other & their attitude towards marriage
- Extent of satisfaction with their marriage
- Discuss patterns of communication, coping with difficult situations, problem solving skills, willingness and ability to discuss and deal appropriately with feelings of anger, frustration, sorrow, conflict, and affection
- Methods of handling disagreements
- Document activities the husband and wife enjoy together.
- State that the applicant(s) show evidence of a stable living arrangement for more than 1 year.
- State that number of previous marriages for each spouse. (For example, "This is the first marriage for Mr. Smith, and the second for Mrs. Smith".)
 - For previous marriages, include the date of the marriage, the date of the divorce, a summary of why the previous marriage(s) failed, and why the applicant believes their current marriage is more successful and stable.

Section 9: Parenting Preparation

- State the applicants' experience with children and their philosophy on child-rearing.
- If there are already children in the home, include a summary of the applicants' relationship with the child/ren.
- For applicants who do not have children, include a description of their interactions with children either through extended family, babysitting, church
- Discuss the applicants' plans for discipline. This section must include a statement that the prospective parents will not use corporal punishment and their plans to use positive behavior management (this proactive approach which appreciates positive behaviors, teaches alternate responses, and allows for "re-do's.")
- Discuss their preparation, willingness to work cooperatively with an agency, willingness to seek help and resources and ability to provide proper care for a child. Ex: "Mr. and Mrs. X were fully engaged in the home study process and eager to do adoption related trainings. They have voiced their willingness to access resources to meet the needs of their child. They were open and forthcoming with all information and questions asked during this home study process.”

- Describe child care plans.
- If there is business conducted in the home, include the parent’s plan of how they will ensure that business activities will not interfere with the child’s care.

Birth Parent/Guardian: Summarize the parents’ feelings about a birth parent or guardian relinquishing a child for adoption. Describe parents’ attitudes toward the possible contact between a child and a biological sibling, relinquishing birth parent, or guardian/orphanage workers. Consider stating: “Positive Adoption language has been reviewed with X and they understand the importance of using this in all conversations about adoption. X will be respectful of and honor her child’s birth parents in all conversations. Mr. and Mrs. Z have a positive attitude toward the birth parents and guardians. They are open to the idea of future contact.”

- Include the family’s plan to integrate a child into the household, and a plan for discussing adoption with the child.

Consider including: Preparing the children already in the home, make sure everyone in the family is included, in an age appropriate manner, in the decision to adopt, the home study process, and the adoption training. Preparing the child to be adopted through correspondence prior to the gotcha day. Identify activities the entire family can enjoy together, identify a person who is able to translate, and other plans to promote attachment. Include plans about creating and using life books and discussing adoption with the child.

- Include an assessment of the applicants’ understanding of inter-country adoption, potential risks, delays, expenses and potential issues regarding attachment, bonding and adjustment.
- Include details on the parent education/training undertaken and what the applicants have learned about inter-country adoption issues, including but not limited to issues related to children who have grown up in an institution, children who may have been neglected, raising a child from a different culture/race/religion, raising an older child, etc. The 12 hours of Hague required training MUST BE COMPLETED before a favorable home study can be approved. There must be a discussion about the specific training courses taken.
- Please discuss and include: The applicants have realistic expectations and understand that an adoption is a permanent, irrevocable and unconditional commitment to care and nurture a child. In the event of the disruption/dissolution of the placement, the family understands that they are still financially responsible for the child(ren), and their family is prepared to provide any physical, emotional and/or financial assistance that is needed in the best interests of the child(ren).
- Required Continuing Education: Include the following statement for MAA's Continuing Education policy, “In addition to the 12 hours of Hague approved training, MAA requires that each parent complete a minimum of 3 additional hours of adoption related education. Mr. and Mrs. X are currently in the process of doing so and will submit book reports or additional training certificates to Madison Adoption Associates prior to travel.”

Madison Adoption Associates

Please note: The 12 hours of Hague required training must have been completed within the last 2 years. If the training is older than 2 years the parents must complete 12 additional hours of Hague required training. It is important that the training be completed before the final home study visit so you, the social worker, can review and discuss the trainings with the clients.

If the adoption may involve a child with special needs, an older child, siblings, or a child who will be out of birth order, the social worker must include a detailed discussion and plan about the family's preparedness for this situation, and what counseling or therapy resources they have in place, if needed. (Special Circumstances Preparation Packet)

Section 10: Health of Applicants

Provide the following information for each adoptive parent:

- Name of physician and date the applicant was examined.
- Identify medications currently being taken by the applicant and why they are prescribed. If applicable, clearly state, "Mr. X is prescribed no medications."
- Identify any disabilities of the parents and address if those will affect the ability to care for a child.
- Note BMI of each parent:
https://www.nhlbi.nih.gov/health/educational/lose_wt/BMI/bmicalc.htm
- The physician's assessment of their health and physician's medical license number.
- The social worker's observations regarding the applicant's general well-being.

Hague requires specific wording for this section: Sample

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were both seen by their physician, Dr. John Ouch (medical license #123456) of Happy Valley, Pennsylvania on July 25, 2017. They were both found to be in good health with no physical or mental limitations that would prevent them from raising an adopted child. Mrs. Smith takes medication for hypertension which is under control. Mr. Smith takes medication for allergies and high Cholesterol which is under control. Dr. Ouch states that both Mr. and Mrs. Smith are suitable to raise an adopted child, and they have no physical, mental, or psychological problems that would affect their ability to raise a child. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Smith has displayed any indication of alcohol or drug abuse. My observations support the physician's findings of mental stability, and their good physical, mental and emotional health. I am satisfied with the above findings of the physician, and no further evaluations, tests, or referrals have been required.

Section 11: Employment and Finances

- Current annual income and verification of employment for both applicants
- Most recent year's total federal income amount taken, as stated on IRS tax forms
- Total assets, total liabilities and total net worth (stated in dollar amounts)
- Total monthly expenditures, total monthly liabilities/bills, excess spending money per month
- List all insurance coverages, including health, auto, homeowner's/renter's, life, disability, etc.

Madison Adoption Associates

- If the applicants have high debt, describe how the applicants plan to pay the costs of an international adoption. Include a statement of endorsement of their financial management and their ability to raise a family given their financial status.

Section 12: Description of Home and Neighborhood

Describe in detail the home and neighborhood, and an evaluation of adequate space for another child. How many bedrooms in the home? Where will the child sleep? Confirm that there are no safety concerns for a child entering the home.

- Include verification of working smoke detectors
- Location of fire extinguishers
- Child safety features in the house
- If there are firearms in the home, include the following: Does the owner have a valid permit and registration? Are the guns and ammunition stored in a locked container, inaccessible to children and stored separately?
- If there is a water hazard, specify safety features.
- If there are pets in the home, verify that the pets are up to date on their vaccinations as per veterinarian records and pose no danger.
- Include details from the home safety check (For example: "All poisonous, caustic, toxic, flammable or other dangerous materials are stored in an area inaccessible to children.")
- Include a description of the room where the adopted child will sleep (For example: The adopted child will be sleeping in a 12'x20' room with 2 closets and bunk beds. The room has ample room for a dresser, book shelves and toys.)
- Please note if home is handicap accessible.

Use information from the Home Safety Checklist to add detail about the home environment.
